Rencounter in the Chancery Court.

One Man Badly Wounded and Two slightly.

The stald and quiet Chancery Cour was yesterday the scene of a violent and bloody alternation between brothers-inaw, litigants in a suit now pending i hat Court. Such a scene has not before ranspired within Its sacred precincts ince Levin H. Coe assaulted Judge King, many years ago, when court was held in Exchange Building. From what ve can gather, pending proceedings, in which both parties were interested, some words passed between Capt. Patterson and Dr. Dickens, residents of Big Crock. The better to adjust their difference, both y common consent, adjourned to the hall of the Court, which they scarcely eached before firing communeed. Seeng them retire in anger, the Chancellor sailed to the Sheriff to arrest them; but the words were scarcely out of his mouth when shots were heard, and the ulmost confusion ensued. Five shots, i it is said, were fired. One of them took effect in Patterson's left shoulder, one in Dickens' right band, and a third in the groin of Mr. R. H. Phompson, who at the time the rencouner was about to commence, advanced oward the door after the beiligerents. The utmost consternation ensued in the Court. The Jury stood their ground, and the lawyers, but with many wistful ng danger. The Court maintained his lignity pretty well; the only evidences ucusual excitement being his brief but trenuous efforts to make the Sheriff un-ferstand who to arrest. At last this ntleman determined to solve what was o him a puzzle, and so he arrested all it sight, until he could select his men. By the aid of the bystanders who had witncesed the fraces, he was shortly able to take into custody R. H. Thompson, E. C. Patierson and Dr. Dickens. The former was sent to his hotel, and the two latter, by the following order of the

A Breezy Time in the Board.

The Board of Aldermen met yesteray avening in the Exchange Building, s per resolution of adjournment. Al-erman Swayne took the Chair, and a orum being announced the Beard proeded to business.

The following message was then read om his Honor, Mayor Leftwich: MAYOR'S OFFICE, CITY HALL, MESTHIS, TENN., Jan. 15, 1809. } othe Honorabie Board of Aldermen: You are assuming the reins of the city vernment at a most critical period in

For reasons that oming events will expose, a combined and censeless opposition was made against the line of policy that had been agreed n as necessary to protect our honor and credit.

This was loudly heralded as a great victory, and one modest individual claimed that a hecatomb should be called in his honor therefor. It may have seemed a "victory" to those who owe no debts and live in ease and loxury with no want unsupplied; but to the ried. cor and dependent, the unpaid street laborer, hospital nurse, fireman and other city empleyees, as well as merchants, druggists, coal dealers, etc., not to mention bankers to whom the city is indebtd, the "victory" was not apparent, and or not, and all other information in re-

> Deputies, after making diligent efforts to collect the money. The law requires that the personality of a defendant in execution shall be exhausted before a levy can be made upon real estate. This is the simple reason why the levy was made upon the stocks and not upon the engine house. I was not and am not now aware that these stocks have an ascertainable market value, and it was my duty to levy upon enough to pay the debt. Butif "Inquirer" will read the advertisement, he will find that I propose to sell the whole of these stocks, "or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the execution, interest and costs." The supposition that a "railroad ring" is in any way concerned or interested in the proceeding, is the veriest bosh.
